

—Manila Meet— Asia Talks Opened In Philippines

Dulles Says Action
Is Against No Nation

MANILA (Monday) (AP)—The eight-nation Southeast Asia defense conference met here today to hammer out a collective security agreement for the free nations of the Pacific.

Philippine President Ramon Magsaysay opened the historic meeting, warning that "the task is formidable and time is running out."

Representatives of Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, the United Kingdom and the United States came here with one intent—to halt Communist aggression in Asia.

MANILA, (Monday) (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the eight SEATO nations have gathered here to establish a collective security arrangement for Southeast Asia and "what we do is directed against no nation and no people."

However, he added, "we are united by a common danger, the danger that stems from international communism and its insatiable ambition."

In his opening statement to the conference Dulles declared:

"It will be necessary to assure that the individual efforts of the various parties to the treaty are used to the best common advantage."

Vast Armies
"Those nations which are represented here cannot match the vast land armies, of which international communism disposes in Asia."

"For the free nations to attempt to maintain or support formidable land-based forces at every danger point throughout the world would be self-destructive."

"So far as the United States is concerned, its responsibilities are so vast and so far-flung that we believe we serve best by developing the deterrent of mobile striking power, plus strategically placed reserves."

Dulles declared the United States had no direct territorial interest in Southeast Asia.

"Nevertheless, we feel a sense of common destiny with those who have in this area their life and being," Dulles said.

The secretary made it clear it was not going to be an exclusive organization.

Some Protection
"Some countries which have a close relationship to the prospective treaty area are not here."

"Among these are Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam."

Dulles said "I hope we shall be able to throw over them some mantle of protection."

Appealing to the nations of the North Pacific area who were not invited to Manila and to the countries of Southeast Asia who refused their invitations, Dulles said: "There are other countries which may subsequently desire to join our defensive grouping. To that end our treaty will, I hope, make provisions for the adherence of new members."

Hospitals Federal Money Refused

Both requests for federal funds to help finance construction of the Lutheran and Mennonite Hospitals in Beatrice were rejected by the state Hospital Advisory Board at its meeting here. The board recommended that agreement be reached on a single hospital.

The Mennonite Hospital asked $219,680 for a new hospital and the Lutheran hospital sought $160,400 for an addition.

Action was also deferred on application for $210,400 for a new hospital at North Platte.

No action was taken on a University of Nebraska request for $416,800 to help build a proposed $1,042,000 dormitory for nurses at the University Hospital in Omaha. It is one of 11 pending before the committee for a total of about $3,000,000 and only $534,104 is available for this year.

Slain Omaha GI's Belongings Found

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A tourist family Sunday discovered the personal effects of Roy Pohl, a 23-year-old soldier from Omaha, Neb., whose body was found riddled with bullets more than a week ago.

Capt. Archie White of the New Mexico State Police said the family asked its name not be used because of fear of possible retaliation.

State Police Chief Joe Roach said the family found a suitcase and toilet kit belonging to Pohl in an arroyo about 2½ miles east of Rio Puerco, about 55 miles from the point where Pohl's body was found.

Roach said military investigators and state police were checking the area.

An officer said the faint footprints of one person were found near a tree in which the suitcase and kit had been wedged. He said there were car tracks in the vicinity.

Pohl's army identification tag was found in one of the bags.

Chief Roach called the discovery "an extremely lucky break" since it indicated the murderer reversed directions after the killing.

An estimated 255,000 pupils, the largest number in the past 14 years, is expected by the state department of Public Instruction to answer the call of school bells in Nebraska this fall.

Demo Cites 'Poor Crowd' At Ike Talk

OMAHA (AP)—A high official of the Nebraska Democratic party said Sunday night that irrigationists and farmers had "repulsed President Eisenhower's effort to bolster the waning farm vote" by refusing to attend "his rally" at McCook Saturday.

Bernard J. Boyle, Democratic national committeeman, said less than 3,000 persons appeared for the President's speech, although predictions had been for a crowd of not less than 30,000.

He claimed that special trains from Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado points failed to materialize, adding: "Two passengers got off the regular Denver train and that was the extent of the rail movement to the Eisenhower rally."

Boyle said dams and other irrigation and flood control structures in the Republican valley were built under Democratic auspices, adding that they "were in working order when the GOP took over," except that only a few laterals were needed to carry the water from the reservoirs to the farms.

The Republican majority in Congress, Boyle went on, "has refused to appropriate the funds for these laterals."

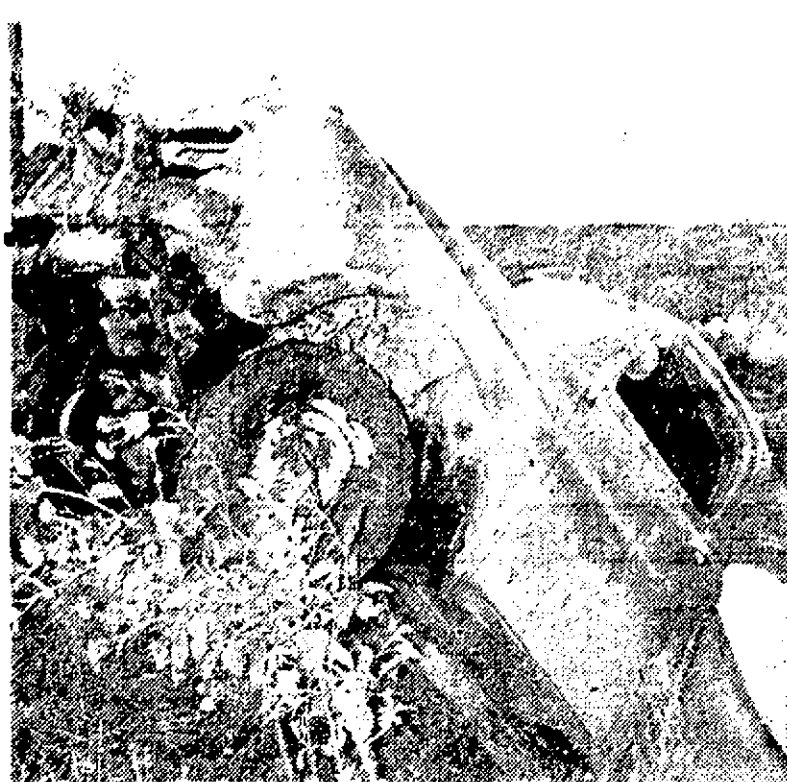

Boyle's statement declared: "Western farmers, who supported the great military figure after he had promised them 90 per cent of parity during the presidential campaign, now discover that the glitter is gone, and that the man, who stood before them betrayed them since taking office."

"These farmers stayed away as rebuke to the way their problems are being handled in Washington," he said.

The youths said the truck spun on the loose gravel and plunged over the Salt Creek embankment just north of the bridge.

"We rolled over several times," Card said. The youths climbed out of the cab as a passing motorist spied the wreck and drove on to call an ambulance.

The Safety Patrol said that the car skidded 200 feet before going over the embankment.

Pinch About Over

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said Sunday the production - consumption pinch which has been blamed for sharp price increases in coffee is about over.

It said that beginning in mid-1955 there should be more coffee produced worldwide than is consumed. Just how much that will amount to will depend on the extent to which Brazil recovers from last year's frost damage and on how much more coffee drinkers will use.

'Take A Look' At Goings On, Solon Urges

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) accused the Eisenhower administration Sunday of encouraging what he called private utility attempts to "break up the TVA" through the proposed Dixon-Yates contract.

Kefauver said in a Labor Day statement he believes, "It is a time for the average working man and woman of the United States to take a good, critical look at what has been going on in the government."

He said that "nothing so highlights the new trend" under the Republicans as a contract President Eisenhower has ordered signed for the construction of a steam power plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed power into the Tennessee Valley Authority system to replace power sold by TVA to the Atomic Energy Commission in Kentucky.

'A Plum'

Kefauver, who was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952 and who has been mentioned as a possibility for 1956, said this contract would give private utilities "a plum worth between 92 and 140 million to them."

He said it would aid them in seeking "to break up the TVA system."

"When such things are done," he said, "it's time for a change so far as the average man and woman—who doesn't own a utility company—is concerned."

He said that "a lot of us in the Senate and House are still kicking" about the proposed contract, despite the fact that Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said Saturday that a new cost-sharing arrangement between TVA and AEC would minimize his objections to the plan.

Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, has contended that the proposed contract involves a "raw deal" and a giveaway to a private power syndicate.

Production Costs

Mitchell is expected to air his views when the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee holds a hearing on the contract proposal, at a date yet to be set.

But there were indications that an agreement under which the added costs of the Dixon-Yates power production will be borne by the AEC rather than the TVA, may take some of the sting out of the Democratic attack on the proposal.

Democratic senators had contended that the estimated costs of $3,685,000 or more a year would raise TVA's average production costs and thus reduce its effectiveness as a yardstick for cheap power rates.

Backers of the contract proposal contend that most of the additional costs, as compared with TVA-produced power, will be accounted for in taxes.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

A tropic rain beat down on Guatemala City. It hit the street like a waterfall. It hammered on the roof of the big central market behind the mustard-yellow cathedral where the fine people go on Sunday.

The Indians go to the village church and burn copal incense and leave corn on the altars. Then they go up in the hills and burn copal to great stone Maya gods that sit in the growing jungle.

"I'll tell you one thing," said the old tropic hand in the Pan American bar. "United Fruit had nothing to do with this revolution."

I asked him why not. He said that he didn't see any United Fruit men around Tegucigalpa in Honduras where the rebel army men based.

"And let me tell you, if United Fruit spends a dime in these countries, they've got auditors from Boston down here checking every penny. If they had financed this revolution, the place would have been loaded with Boston experts."

The opinion of the men who work in the tropics is that the United States took a firm hand in the Guatemalan situation.

The rebel jamming of the Guatemala radio was an expert job. They didn't suppose it was done by a couple of barefoot Mayas. With M.I.T. degrees.

The revolution was a curious thing. It succeeded because of the Maya who sits in the rainy market. Silent before his piles of big red radishes and snow-white onions.

Of the three million people in Guatemala, 2,000,000 are pure Maya.

They are not considered in the politics of Guatemala. They are docile people who raise corn and beans and conduct ceremonies to ancient gods with weather-worn faces and sightless eyes. Politics is a thing for Guatemala City.

There was plenty of Communist influence in Guatemala. But somehow it never got to the Indians. Probably this new administration and those that come after will not get any closer.

"The way I hear it," said the old tropic hand, "Foreign pilots flew those P-47s. I suppose they were paid. There's always soldiers-of-fortune in these things. These Central American armies are built for internal security. You have to hire experts to fight the wars."

"They say they took off from Tacho Somoza's airfields in Nicaragua."

"The rest of it was pure bluff. Castillo Armas came across the border with 240 men. He strung a couple of wires between trees and began broadcasting—none of it true. 'Troops on the Mexican border.' 'My forces on the Salvador border.' The biggest bluff in military history. That's what the papers said in Tegucigalpa."

From all I have been able to gather, a troop of determined Boy Scouts could have run Castillo Armas right back into Honduras.

The Guatemalan Army showed no such determination. And if the Communist overlay had any, they were not able to make it stick. They simply ran for cover in the Embassies. And Mr. Castillo Armas moved into the olive-green presidential palace.

The Indians did nothing. They went right along raising corn and beans and levering 300-pound loads on their stocky, five-foot frames. They went right on burning copal to stone gods and making ceremonial dress with the plumes of the quetzal bird. The quetzal bird that is the national symbol of Guatemala. The Mayas say the quetzal is the bird of freedom. It dies in captivity.

Emergency Shop, Board Plan Meeting

The Community Emergency Shop has scheduled a meeting with the Lancaster County Commissioners for Sept. 24.

It is understood the boards will discuss the possibility of operation of the Emergency Shop as an agency of the county.

Earlier in August, the Community Chest declined to approve the Shop's budget unless the county contributed a greater share.

The county board has indicated that the Shop should be an agency of the county if it is required to contribute half or more of the $12,600 budget.

Louis Horne, Chest executive secretary, said the Chest has advocated a merger of the Emergency Shop with the Goodwill Industries.

However, an Emergency Shop spokesman indicated that its board would prefer operation as a county agency to the merger.

A Chest study reports that county agencies use 80 per cent of the Shop's services.

The county board is interested in the operation of the Shop as a county function.

Sudden Fire Roars Across Famed Beach

... Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A lightning-fast general alarm fire, clearly visible to tens of thousands of Labor Day visitors, damaged 11 shops on the famed boardwalk and the facade of Steeplechase Pier Sunday.

The flames, fanned by stiff breezes off the Atlantic Ocean, gutted the fronts of seven shops on one side of the boardwalk, leaped across the wide wooden promenade and damaged four more on the pier.

Damage was estimated at $200,000 to the stores and $25,000 to the boardwalk. The blaze started shortly before 4 p.m., apparently under the boardwalk, and was reported extinguished within an hour after a battle by a small army of firemen from here and nearby Ocean City.

One fireman was injured by flying glass and treated at Atlantic City hospital. None of the many thousands of onlookers, who, at times hindered police and firemen in their quest for vantage points, was reported hurt.

Pursuing Happiness Doesn't Guarantee It—Rev. Rogers

Pursuing happiness does not guarantee that man will achieve happiness, the Rev. Vance D. Rogers said Sunday morning at Trinity Methodist Church.

Special members of his Labor Day Sunday congregation were the members of the graduating class of Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing.

"Happiness is not found in the fulfillment of material desires," he told them. "Money will buy a bed, but not sleep; books, but no brains; finery, but not beauty; a house, but not a home; medicine, but not health; luxuries, but not culture; amusements, but not happiness."

The Rev. Mr. Rogers said happiness is not found by pursuing it deliberately.

"If you force yourself into it, you lay the stage for unhappiness," he said. "If happiness is the object of your endeavor, you narrow your activities to self-satisfaction. Selfish interests do not bring joy."

Happiness, he said, is a by-product, a fruit of love and service and devotion. He said it is not the result of a search, but something that comes from a life well-lived. It follows after duty, love, unselfishness and a genuine concern for the welfare of others.

The Rev. Mr. Rogers told his congregation that happiness is an inner experience.

"Life's deepest joys are experienced in the realm of the intangible," he said. "They come from within. All of life's externals have little meaning when the innermost experience of joy and contentment is lacking. Thus, the pursuit of happiness follows the pathway from within to the exterior. It flows out of a man's life, and in so doing replenishes the inner reservoir with love, goodwill, joy and contentment."

11 Americans Among 28 Dead In Ireland Royal Dutch Airliner Crash

...28 Survive As Plane Hits Muddy River

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland. (AP) — The big KLM Royal Dutch airliner bound for New York with 56 persons crashed into the muddy River Shannon's broad mouth before dawn Sunday. Twenty-eight persons, including 11 Americans, perished.

The survivors included 21 passengers and 7 crewmen. Three of the Dutch crew of 10, one a stewardess, perished.

The toll rose to 28 with the death in a Shannon hospital Sunday night of an injured American survivor, Mrs. Caroline Platz of the Bronx, N. Y.

Airline officials said most of those lost fainted from the gasoline fumes and were trapped and drowned inside the Super-Constellation. Some were feared buried alive while struggling across a mile of treacherous mud after escaping from the plane.

Missing Listed
The Americans missing and presumed dead were identified as: Elaine Cooper, who had listed as next of kin Mrs. Emily Felsing of Bridgeport, Conn.; Wilbur H. Coultas of La Grange, Ill.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, of Georgetown, Md., a student at the University of Maryland. Her mother, Mrs. Joseph M. Mulford of Middleburg, Va., was reported to be visiting in Canada.
Louise Griffith of Farmington, Conn.

William Hudson, a United Nations official of Barnegat Light, N. J.

Maria Hyde of St. George, Staten Island, N. Y.
Frits J. Polak, president of the Polak Fruit Works at Middletown, N. Y., and a resident of Goshen, N. Y.

7 Navy Men Dead In Crash Of R5D Transport Aircraft

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The body of one naval reservist had been recovered and six others were presumed dead Sunday in the Saturday night crash of a four engine R5D transport into Chesapeake Bay.

Naval rescue workers were still on the scene late Sunday, bringing to the surface pieces of the craft which apparently nosed into the surf only minutes after taking off from the Norfolk Naval Air Station.

The three crewmen and two passengers were attached to the South Weymouth Naval Air Station in Weymouth, Mass. The two others, both listed as passengers, were attached to the Naval Air Station at Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y.

The body recovered last night was taken to the Norfolk Naval hospital at nearby Portsmouth, but identification had not been completed Sunday.

William D. Tuller of Falls Church, Va.

The big plane roared along at 190 miles an hour with all four engines racing and hit the water at 3:38 a. m. (8:38 p. m. Saturday CST).

Mudbank
The airliner skidded across the surface and slammed against a submerged mudbank. Gasoline and water poured into the cabin. Some aboard fainted from the fumes and collapsed, while others close beside them made their escape to the airliner's rubber boats.

Eighteen hours after the crash a rescue launch landed 25 bodies taken from the plane.

It was the second crash of a KLM airliner with heavy loss of life in 13 days. A Skymaster crashed into the North Sea Aug. 23 after a stopover here on a flight from New York to Amsterdam. All 21 persons aboard that plane, including a dozen Americans, were killed.

Sunday's crash was only two miles from the airport in the Shannon estuary. The river, belying the silvery adjectives of the songs about it, is brown with mud. At low tide there is a stretch of treacherous, slimy muck often more than a mile wide separating the river bank from the water.

Water Rising
Gen. I. A. Aler, KLM president who hurried to the scene from Dublin, told newsmen: "When everyone in the plane whom the crew could bring to the boats or who could get to them themselves was in the boats, the water was rising in the plane neck high. There was no sign of life. The captain decided that no one (else) could be saved, and the dinghy pulled away from the plane."

Aler, who talked with the surviving crewmen, said everything appeared normal as the plane took off with its full complement of passengers and baggage. He said he was assured by the captain the plane was climbing normally, despite some reports it appeared to have difficulty in gaining altitude. Then, after only about two minutes of flying time, when the crew had noted no "unusual disturbances," the airliner, "on throttle for four engines, struck water," Aler said.

Day Or Two? Nope, He Hits Fairs Week After Week

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

Most Nebraskans just go to the fair for a day or two each year, but Orville Kuhlmann of North Platte attends for weeks at a time.

This marathon fair-going is nothing new either to Kuhlmann or to his family. He has been doing it for 15 years. His business is raising purebred Hereford cattle at North Platte and Valentine, and when fair season rolls around each year, Kuhlmann hits the road with a string of show animals.

The show Herefords are taken on a jaunt which includes fairs in Wyoming, Montana, and Nebraska in the Midwest and expositions on the west coast. When he leaves the Nebraska State Fair this year, Kuhlmann will take his prize Herefords to shows at Valentine and North Platte and later will move on to big shows at Portland,

Auditorium Funds Among $2,150,000 In Treasury Bills

Finance Director Theo Berg has purchased for the city $2,150,000 of U. S. treasury bills becoming due Dec. 2 and yielding nearly 1 per cent interest.

The funds invested represented $15 million in the recent auditorium bond issue sale and other securities that became due and available for re-investment. The 1 per cent interest will net the city $5,375 which will not quite offset the 1.6542 per cent interest the city must pay on the 20-year auditorium bonds.

The treasurer bills have a face value of $2,150,000 if retained for 90 days and were purchased for $2,149,625. A cash balance of $19,000 was retained in the auditorium fund to pay bills coming due before December.

These bills will cover partial payment of architect's fees and a $1,500 payment to bond attorneys who worked on the $1.5 million issue.

Ore., San Francisco, Denver and Ogden, Utah.

Private Sales

During these tours, Kuhlmann does more than just exhibit his fine stock. He enters the Herefords in auction sales which are a part of many livestock exhibitions, and makes private sales as well. The end product of Kuhlmann's jaunts is to make Nebraskas's Herefords better known throughout the nation. He has 11 head entered in the Nebraska fair this year.

With his years of experience, Kuhlmann is no mean competitor in the show ring. How well his sleek stock will do in the American Hereford Show judging at the State Fair Tuesday and Wednesday is up to the judges, but Kuhlmann is off to a good start this season.

He comes to Lincoln from the Wyoming State Fair in Douglas, where one of his entries was named reserve champion. This mark was made in the heart of the western cattle country in a show that included 150 head of fine beef from five states. He is putting especially high hopes this year on Gold Co-Pilot, the white face that took the big ribbon in Douglas.

1,000-Acre Ranch

Kuhlmann operates a herd of about 100 brood cows at North Platte and runs stock on a 1,000-acre ranch at Valentine. As a Hereford breeder, Kuhlmann is carrying on a family tradition. His father and grandfather before him were also in the Hereford business.

Melvin Sherbeck, assistant superintendent of the beef division at the fair, said Sunday that entries in that division and in dairy number about 1,000 head. Dairy entries have filled the top floor of the beef and dairy building and some are being housed in an emergency tent which was set up to handle the overflow. Sherbeck gave this breakdown in the number of head in various divisions:

Herefords, 135 head; milking shorthorns 52; Red Polls, 40; polled and horned shorthorns, 160; Angus, 140.

Welcome Home For Karen Lund

When Karen Lund returned to Lincoln with her parents, L. Com. and Mrs. Orville Lund, the other day, a group of her former classmates were entertained at a "welcome home" party for which Miss Gretchen Groth was hostess. The affair began with a dessert luncheon at the home of the hostess, after which the group went on to Hillcrest Club for a swimming party.

Marriage Solemnized

At a candlelight ceremony solemnized on the 25th wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's parents, Saturday, Sept. 4, Miss Virjean Alice Habley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florian Habley of Berwyn, Ill., became the bride of John Joseph Willock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Willock of Lincoln. The 4 o'clock service was read by the Rev. Leeroy Moberly at the First Methodist Church in Cicero, Ill.

Preceding the ceremony, a prelude of organ music was presented by Miss Ann Jemm, who also played the wedding music and accompanied Bud Caliendo as he sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Sharon Habley, as her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Dolores Black, the bridesmaid, were alike ensembles of white lace and tulle over ice blue satin. The lace bodices were fashioned with portrait necklines, and the full skirts of tulle were ballerina length. They carried colonial nosegays of white and blue-tinted carnations.

The bride appeared in a gown of white imported lace and silk tulle over satin. Designed in the Empire mode, the molded lace bodice had long, fitted sleeves, and beneath the snug waist, tiers of shirred tulle formed the wide skirt which ended in a chapel train. A Victorian coronet of starched lace held her veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white feathered carnations and pink rosebuds.

Serving Mr. Willock as best man was Kurt Lipsius of Buffalo, N. Y., and seating the guests were Bill Boroviack of Cicero, Ill., Gary Shields and Melvin Schwenk of Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Willock will make their home in Lincoln after the bridegroom completes his studies at the National College of Chiropractors in Chicago. Mrs. Willock is a graduate of Cook County Hospital School of Nursing.

Has Evening Service

Autumn-toned chrysanthemums and white candles burning in seven-branched candelabra appointed the chancel of the Beaver Crossing Methodist Church for the marriage of Miss Joyce Nadene White of Lincoln, and Richard D. Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christian of Beaver Crossing, on Sunday evening, Sept. 5.

In the presence of 250 guests, the Rev. Mr. Jackson read the lines of the service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Robert Ganshorn, pianist. Mrs. Ganshorn also accompanied Mrs. Don Lindstrom of Waco as she sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Wearing alike frocks of taffeta fashioned with snug bodices and widely-flaring skirts were the maid of honor, Miss Bonnie Higel of Lincoln, in sea-green, and the bridesmaids, Miss Doris Horn of Lincoln and Miss Joyce Wullbrandt of Seward in leaf green. Tiny caps and mitts of the taffeta completed their ensembles, and they carried clusters of bronze and yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums. Miss Margaret Ann Harter and Mrs. Richard Hde, in white choir robes, lighted the candles.

The bride's gown of white nylon tulle over satin was designed in the colonial mode. Appliqued petals of tulle edged with iridescent sequins and seed pearls framed the off-shoulder yoke of illusion, and long, fitted sleeves completed the molded bodice. The applique motif was repeated in the trim of the full skirt, formed of multiple tiers of tulle over satin, and her illusion veil was held to the head by a bandeau of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations tufted with satin.

Serving as best man was Berle Noler of Beaver Crossing, and the ushers were Don McCracken of Lincoln, and Darrell Eberspacher of Seward.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, the couple left for a trip to Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Christian will make their home in Lincoln.

Town Talk

EACH year at this very same time we devote a few moments to pondering on who thought up the idea of Labor Day that as far as we are concerned, is just another Monday—Why State Fair week always inspires the worst in weather—either too hot or too wet—and WHY we are wasting any time pondering in the first place.

THOUGHT we'd better check and see what Miss Kathryn Swanson, whose marriage to Jerry Druliner takes place later this month, had on her schedule for the week—and we found that she had plenty.

Next Wednesday evening the bride-elect and her fiancé will be honored when Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pegler, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meginnis and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. O'Shea are hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pegler.

THE Thursday party is a luncheon for which Mrs. E. G. Schaumburg will be a hostess when she entertains just members of the families.

ON Saturday evening Miss Swanson and Mr. Druliner will share honors again when Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holland and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bloom, will be hosts and hostesses at a buffet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holland.

The guest list will include the members of the bridal party. And on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Martin and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Campbell will honor Miss Swanson and Mr. Druliner when they entertain at a morning brunch at the Lincoln Country club.

SOMEONE told us that Saturday was homecoming day for Mr. and Mrs. Keith Moseman who returned from a three weeks vacation trip that took them through the Black Hills, Yellowstone Park, Spokane, Wash., Portland, Ore., San Francisco and Los Angeles. En route home Mr. and Mrs. Moseman stopped at Las Vegas, and various Colorado points.

THEN we heard that Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Jones, who had been spending a few weeks as the guest of son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Jones, left late last week to plane home to Memphis, Tenn.

NEWS from Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo., tells us that Miss Patricia Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin E. Patterson, is to be a freshman at Lindenwood this year—and will be on the campus about Sept. 12.

Credit Women To Hear Report

The Lincoln Credit Women's Breakfast Club will hold its first meeting of the fall on Tuesday morning at the Hotel Cornhusker. Mrs. Bea Wood, club president, will conduct a business session during the 7 o'clock breakfast when nominating committee members will be elected.

Mrs. Wood also will present a report on the organization's national conference held at San Francisco July 17 to 24.

The Brides' Book Says:

her nephew, Steven Holroyd, will be ringbearer.

Ervin Kraft will serve Mr. Grasmick as best man, and seating the guests will be Roger Paul, Ronald Beideck, William Debus, Edward Snyder, Charles Smith and William Hahn, brother of the bride-to-be. Lighting the candles will be Marvin Leopold and William Wingate.

On Friday evening, Miss Hahn was honored at a crystal shower for which Mrs. Herman Hahn, Mrs. Vernon Holroyd, Mrs. William Hahn and Mrs. C. E. Wells were co-hostesses. Also included among recent courtesies for the bride-elect was the dessert supper last Wednesday evening when Mrs. George Grasmick and Mrs. Roger Paul entertained a group of guests. A kitchen shower was presented to Miss Hahn.

Ceremony On Sunday

MRS. ROGER CHARLES RHODES

At an early evening ceremony solemnized on Sunday, Sept. 5, Miss Rosemary Lucke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lucke, became the bride of Roger Charles Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhodes of Arapahoe. The lines of the 6 o'clock service were read by the Rev. E. L. Jeambey at the Fourth Presbyterian Church.

Wearing white choir robes, Mrs. Marvin McIntosh and Mrs. Vern Youngman lighted the chancel candles as Miss Sharan Albury presented a prelude of organ music. Miss Albury also played the wedding music and accompanied Lee Finney of Alliance as he sang "Wedding Prayer," "Ich Liebe Dich," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Wesley Hultquist, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Beverly Nelson of Sidney, Miss Juanalee Oestmann of Auburn, Miss Frances Lucke and Mrs. Robert Jeambey, were frocked identically in white nylon tulle over petal pink taffeta. Brief jackets of the nylon covered the strapless basques, and the wide skirts were waltz length. They carried circlets of pink, lavender and white asters.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose for her wedding a gown of white imported lace over taffeta. The molded bodice was completed by a long-sleeved bolero of the lace accented by a Peter Pan collar, and beneath the snug waist, the danseuse-length skirt was shirred into fullness and was edged with natural scallops of the lace. A bonnet brim of tulle and lace held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white carnations and pale pink roses.

Serving Mr. Rhodes as best man was Robert Jeambey, and seating the guests were Thomas Waring of Stanton, Don Hull, Gordon, Bill Beene and Paul Schneider.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the parlors of the church immediately following the ceremony. Upon their return from a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes will live in Lincoln.

A graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, the bride is a member of Phi Mu sorority and served as president of the Pan-hellenic Council and of Cardinal Key. She also is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, Psi Chi, Phi Kappa Phi and Who's Who in American Colleges. Mr. Rhodes, who recently completed a tour of duty with the armed forces, is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University and is a member of Theta Chi fraternity, Blue Key, Psi Chi and "W" Club.

MRS. RICHARD KNUTSON

For the wedding of Miss Eileen Patzel, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Fred W. Patzel, and Richard Wayne Knutson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Knutson of Hastings, which took place on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 5, the chancel of Christ Methodist Church was arranged with pink and yellow gladioli, and lighted cathedral candles against a background of greenery. The 4 o'clock service was solemnized by the bride's father, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Burton of Hastings, and the wedding music was played by Miss Karen Beghtol, organist. Miss Beghtol also accompanied Miss Edna Cramer of Denver who sang preceding the ceremony.

The identically styled frocks of the attendants, Miss Mary Lou Wittler of Fairbury, the maid of honor who wore blue; and the bridesmaids, the Misses Jean and Ruth Knutson of Hastings, sisters of the bridegroom, in pink, were of antique taffeta and net, and designed with fitted bodices and bouffant, floor-length skirts. Gladioli, yellow for Miss Wittler and pink for the bridesmaids, fashioned the crescent bouquets. The candles were lighted by Miss Ruth Patzel, sister of the bride, and Miss Esther Knutson, sister of the bridegroom, who wore frocks of yellow antique satin and net. Beverly Moon was the flower girl, and Paul David Patzel carried the ring.

The bridal gown of white, imported embossed taffeta, was designed with a snugly fitted bodice and a wide, floor-length skirt of unpressed pleats. She completed her costume with a long-sleeved fitted jacket, framed at the throat with a pearl-embroidered satin collar, and a pearl banded half-hat of satin held in place her veil of English silk illusion. She carried a cascade of red roses centered with a large white orchid.

Glenn A. Knutson of Hastings served his brother as best man, and the ushers included Stanley Patzel, brother of the bride; Donald Gibbs, Douglas Clem, Jack Eigt of Hastings, and Charles Sipe of Oklahoma City.

A reception for the 500 wedding guests was held in the church parlors after which Mr. Knutson and his bride left for a short honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will reside at 1133 M St., Lincoln. For traveling Mrs. Knutson wore a navy tulle suit with white accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of white orchids.

The bride attended the Bethany Peniel College at Oklahoma City, and will be a student at the University of Nebraska this year. Mr. Knutson was graduated from Bethany Peniel College, and will enter the University of Nebraska Graduate School to work towards his Ph.D.

Candlelight Wedding

MRS. JACK DALE NIDER

Miss Kathleen Ann Heideman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Heideman of Plymouth, became the bride of Jack Dale Nider, son of Max Nider of Jansen, at an evening ceremony on Saturday, Sept. 4. White garden flowers and lighted white candles appointed the altar of Peace Lutheran Church near Plymouth for the service, which was read by the Rev. E. F. Prange. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Henry Pohlman, organist, who also accompanied Mr. Pohlman, the vocal soloist.

Miss Loretta Heideman of Lincoln was her sister's maid of honor and wore a lavender tulle-over-taffeta frock trimmed with lace and accented by a bolero jacket of the lace. She carried a nosegay of green-tinted carnations. Costumed identically in pastel shades were the bridesmaids, Miss Eloyde Heideman, also a sister of the bride, Mrs. Lowell Grummett and Mrs. Donna Lee Nider, both sisters of the bridegroom. Lighting the candles were Miss Elaine Heiger and Miss Darlene Haacker.

Serving as best man was Lowell Grummett, and the ushers were Arlyn Heideman of San Diego, Calif., Lyle McKay and Delmar Wittier.

The bride's gown of white tulle was touched with imported lace. The snug bodice of narrowly-tucked tulle was designed with a deep yoke of the lace, and the brief sleeves were completed by long mitts of tulle. Beneath a scalloped peplum of lace, the full tulle skirt extended into a train. Her veil of illusion was held by a half-hat of lace edged with tulle ruching, and she carried a shower bouquet of tiny lavender orchids and stephanotis.

A reception for 250 guests was held at the Jansen Auditorium. Mr. and Mrs. Nider will live in Lincoln upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Colorado.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

There are no longer pin-boys in championship bowling or political campaigns.

No bird is setting 'em up for the other guy to knock down.

They're as easy as room and board at the park zoo.

Every speech you hear is milked for its specific applause. The questions are studied like video ad libs. The answers are as cautious as an elephant on a rope bridge.

We miss the old time politician who regarded a loud voice as an argument. And a gesture for corroboration.

He pointed with wobble-fingered pride. He viewed with astigmatic alarm. When facts interfered with the truth he snuck them both. If they applauded him he bowed. If they booed him he

3,500 Attend GI Church Dedication

Lincoln Star Special
GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—More than 3,500 persons attended dedication services Sunday for the new $375,000 Trinity Lutheran Church building here.

Speakers included Dr. J. W. Behnken of St. Louis, president of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, and the Rev. Lawrence Acker, pastoral advisor of the International Lutheran Laymen's League since 1941.

Prof. Paul Rosel of Concordia Teachers College in Seward gave an evening concert on the church's new organ. The organ is modeled after classical organs built in Europe in the 17th and 18th centuries.

The church, built by Busboom and Raub of Salina, Kan., is constructed of various types of stone in the Gothic tradition. The bell tower is 106 feet high.

It contains 22 class rooms, a large social room capable of seating 375, and a fully equipped kitchen. The church has pastors' study rooms, general office, vestry, and will seat 750 in the worship area.

The building committee included Oscar Brethauer, chairman; Fred Kuhlman, V. Wasserman, Otto Becker, Carl Brockmeier, Andrew Oliver, Harold Seyler, Elmer Cordes, Gus Kaiser, Otto Fahrbruch, Raymond Roehrkrasse, Edgar Meyers, and John William.

The Rev. O. A. Graebner is pastor of the church, serving the congregation since 1938. Assistant pastor is the Rev. Walter E. Buss, who came to Grand Island in 1948.

The new structure is the third in the 76-year history of the church. The first church was a frame structure and was replaced by a stone church in 1897.

Four Charged With Robbery; Soldier Victim

Lincoln Star Special
KEARNEY, Neb.—Four men are being held by Kearney authorities on charges of robbery following an incident involving a young South Dakota soldier.

They were picked up by Safety Patrolman Donald Greib of Grand Island and Merrick County Sheriff Gibson near Central City after Pfc. Gerald Fergen told Kearney police he had been robbed of $40 and a .22 caliber pistol.

Fergen, who was hitchhiking home to Barstow, S. D., on a 10-day leave from Camp Carson, Colo., said five men in a late model car stopped him about 10 miles west of Kearney. He said he was pulled into the car and driven about five miles east of Kearney and robbed.

The foursome were returned from Central City to Kearney by Police Chief R. T. Nelson and Sheriff Lloyd Frank. Nelson said the fifth member of the group was a young hitchhiker who had been let out of the car at Grand Island. Nelson said the boy was not involved in the incident.

Those held at Kearney are Jerry Doss, 21, Berryville, Ark.; Cecil Woodhull, 30, Macy; Carl McAllister, 32, Roxana, Ill.; and William Joseph Owens, 28, Kansas City, Mo.

Nelson said no further action would be taken until Fergen returns to Kearney from his home on Wednesday or Thursday.

Woodhull, the only Nebraskan in the group, joined his three companions Saturday near Cozad. Nelson said the other three men had previously been in Washington and Oregon.

IKE INVITED TO PRAIRIE CHICK HUNT

McCook, Neb.—President Eisenhower has a standing invitation to a Nebraska prairie chicken shoot.

The invitation came Saturday from Sen. Eva Bowring, who was among the Nebraska Republican legislators to greet the President during his McCook visit.

Mrs. Bowring suggested to the President he visit her ranch near Merriman.

"Do you have any prairie chickens up there?" Eisenhower asked.

"We certainly do," replied Nebraska's lady senator, "and you know that you have a standing invitation to come up and see a part of beautiful Nebraska."

The President replied he would try to make it a part of his vacation plans.

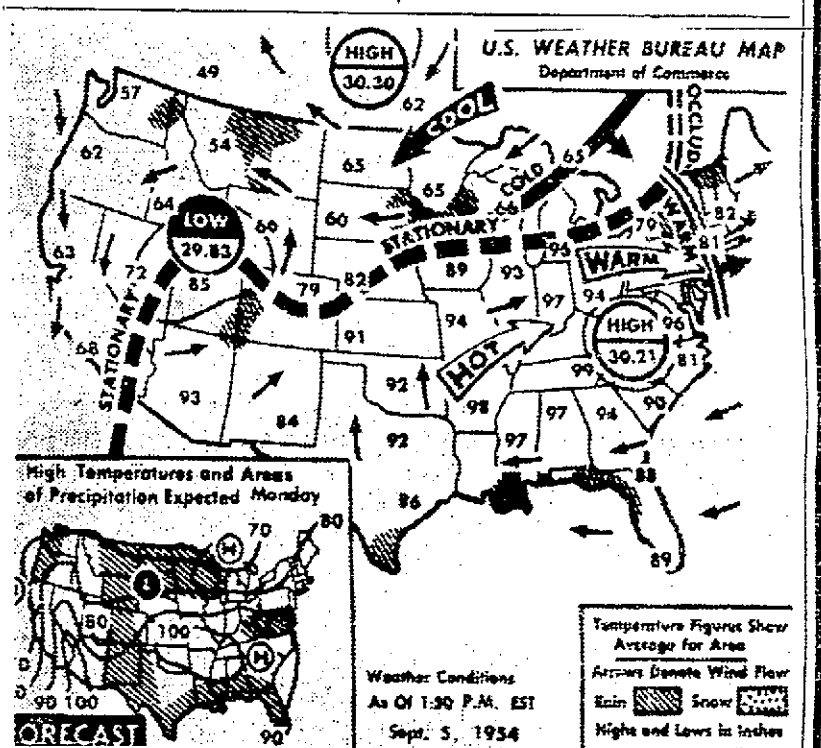

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, a member of the President's party, told Mrs. Bowring, "I am truly sorry that you will not be returning to Washington."

"I thought I had done enough for your farm bill," replied Sen. Bowring.

"Putting it that way," said Benson with a smile, "I do believe you have."
